Prize Essay Contest

by Capt I.M. Marine

There's only one way to join the elite group of Marines listed above and that's to have your byline appear in the Marine Corps GAZETTE. A byline, of course, is a line printed above a magazine article telling who wrote it. When it appears in the GAZETTE it identifies you as a professional. And if this logo appears beside your byline it identifies you as one who cares about the Corps. Maj-

A 1985 MajGen Harold W. Chase
Prize Essay Contest Entry

Gen Hal Chase cared about the Corps. That's why he suggested a Boldness and Daring Award in a posthumous letter to his family, "I would like [an award] set up to give an annual prize to the Marine [whose essay] best challenges the conventional wisdom."

This year there are two prizes: $750.00 for the winning essay and $375.00 for the runnerup.

But time is running out. The deadline is midnight, 31 December. Check the subject index above (under "Essays and Writings") for where to find complete details on the Major General Harold W. Chase Prize Essay Contest.

Time is Running Out!
